

I oppose the weakening of Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law with its challenge by the Consumer Bankers Association to permit calls from those with established business relationships. Before Indiana's law change, my family encountered many interruptions every evening. Many calls were from banks, credit card companies, and long distance carriers. I do not wish to receive unsolicited calls from them or any other business. I will call them if I have business to transact with them.